

Press Releases

e_Marketing & chef d'entreprise web magazines
April 15th, 2008

A competition for Innovative Startup Companies

TxCell, UDcast and Vu Log: these 3 companies were selected to present their company during the first edition of Innovation Stars in Europe. The main objective of this event is to assist innovative startup companies in their first steps in the US and to accelerate their business.

The winners will be chosen and announced during the Cross Innov Partnering Convention organized in Sophia Antipolis by the Economic Development Agency, Team Côte d'Azur. During the Innovation Stars Gala reception, April 24th, the winners will receive different prizes such as consulting and law services, as well as office space at the Science Center Incubator, one of the best incubators in the world, based right on the University of Pennsylvania (UPENN) Campus. The startup companies will be confronted by Jury members composed of American experts. These members will choose which company has the best business strategy and ambition to extend its activities in the US.

Article from www.emarketing.fr & www.chefdentreprise.com /
translated by Orelie & Nikita, IDISUS